Hong Kong – Training Visa Procedures and Fees

As the world's leading cosmopolitan city, Hong Kong is inherently well positioned for business and has attracted many prominent multinational investors to establish a permanent presence. Its unique business environment has allowed all industries to flourish and Hong Kong has attracted the best and brightest from around the world to excel in different fields. Many companies regard Hong Kong as an important center for training talents and send their employees to Hong Kong for training.

Hong Kong provide Training Visa for those who wish to enter for a limited period (approximately no more than 12 months) of training to acquire special skills and knowledge not available in applicants' country/territory of domicile.

This visa is not for nationals from Afghanistan, Cuba, Laos, North Korea, Nepal and Chinese residents of Mainland (exc. Mainland employees and business associates of well-established and multinational companies based in Hong Kong).

Any person who enters Hong Kong for training must apply for an entry visa/permit and meet the relevant eligibility criteria unless having he/she has the right of abode or right to land in Hong Kong. It should be noted that the eligibility criteria may be subject to change from time to time.

During the validity period of the Training Visa, the accompanying dependents can work in Hong Kong without restriction, but the period of stay in Hong Kong is linked to their sponsors.

Note: The information and eligibility criteria contained in this document are subject to change by the Hong Kong Immigration Department without prior notice. Please consult with Kaizen before applying.

1. Services Fees

Our fee for handling training visa in Hong Kong is HKD8,800 per application, and HKD2,200 per dependent visa. A 15% off discount will be provided if sponsor company apply 5 or above training visa application.
