- (5) When clients are uncertain whether they will renew their contract or move to a physical office after 6 months, the lease term for the virtual address will be 1 year from the starting date, which can be paid every 6 months or annually. If a client wishes to terminate the lease after 6 months, they are required to notify Kaizen at least 3 months prior to the proposed termination date, providing a notice of termination, securing an alternative address, completing the registered address change for the Japanese company, and providing a scanned copy of the Japanese company's complete certificate of registered matters reflecting the new address. Failure to do so will result in charges for the lease after the termination date.
- (6) Regarding the lease term for virtual offices, even though the lease may not start at the beginning of the month, the contract end date is always the last day of the month. For example, if the lease starts on January 2 with a one-year term, the contract ending date will be January 31 of the following year, i.e., the contract period is from January 2 to January 31 of the following year. Any excess days will be charged accordingly.
- (7) The deposit will be refunded in full when the client terminates the lease of the virtual office, provided that there are no other deductions (such as mail forwarding fees, etc.). Bank handling fees will be borne by the client. In the event that the balance of the deposit after deducting other expenses is less than the bank handling fee, unless otherwise instructed, Kaizen will not proceed to refund the balance of the deposit, to avoid clients paying bank handling fees that exceed the balance of the deposit.

- (8) If customers would like to lease a virtual office outside Tokyo, Kaizen can also assist with the leasing process at a cost of 66,000 yen (excluding tax). Office rental fees vary depending on the city specified by the customer in Japan. Once the customer has confirmed the city Kaizen will check the actual virtual office rental price and provide it to the customer for consideration. Please contact Kaizen's advisor for further information.
- (9) The above quotation is for reference purposes only and does not constitute the final terms of the agreement.
